De-identified Data is Dangerous

"The patient data entrusted to us during the care process is powerful. It is up to us to make it safe and make sure it can't re-identify a patient," said CentraState's VP/CIO, John Ulett.

HIMSS Healthcare Security Forum

On December 9-10 join us in Boston, Massachusetts, to learn how to enable business goals and innovation, build and sustain security maturity, and vigilantly prepare for next generation security and consumerism to keep your organization and patients safer.

Some of the key highlights of the event include networking with other healthcare security leaders, breakout group discussions and exciting keynotes, a HIMSS security executive roundtable, and more.
